ANTI-G SUIT

The CSU-13B/P anti-g suit is designed to combat the effects of positive g-forces reducing the risk of G-induced loss of consciousness (G-LOC). Leveraging over 90 years experience in the design of pilot flight equipment, the CSU-13B/P anti-g suit is currently in service in a large number of the world's airforces on various platforms such as the F-16 Fighting Falcon, F-15 Eagle, A-10 Thunderbolt II and F-18 Super Hornet. The anti-g suit consists of a fire-resistant aramid cloth outer shell which houses a bladder. The bladder system is constructed of polyurethane coated nylon and covers the abdomen, thighs and calves and is fitted with a hose for connecting directly to the aircraft system. The outer shell has waist and leg entrance slide fasteners, six adjustment lacing areas with lacing covers, and 2 easily detached leg pockets with slide fastener closures.
